Sentry Security Systems Inc. announces the new Sentry H Series 480fps DVR

Superb image quality, up to 480fps display and record video speed

Kingston — January 2, 2004 — Sentry Security Systems Inc would like to announce the release of the new Sentry H480/16, a 480 frame per second (fps) display and recording Digital Video Recorder. The Sentry H480/16 is the perfect video surveillance solution for critical security applications that require up to 16 cameras and real-time video recording and playback. The industry-leading 480fps display and recording speed of the Sentry H480/16 provides full-motion video speeds for all your critical security applications that require the highest level of video surveillance available today.

“Our dealers know the H Series for its excellent quality, reliability and stability” said Michael Munnely, Director of Information Technology at Sentry Security Systems Inc. “Now, the new high-speed 480fps DVR opens up huge opportunities for our dealers and resellers servicing the upgrade needs of existing clients and when approaching new business.”

Highlighted Features:

- High Speed: Up to 480fps display and recording speeds at 320x240 resolution (30fps per camera).
- High Compression Ratio: MPEG4-like proprietary compression designed specifically for CCTV applications provides better compression and higher quality video recording. Average frame size is just 2KB.
- Fast remote access: Small frame size provides super fast remote access.
- Small recorded file size: Average daily recording file size under motion detection based recording is 72GB per day at 480fps and 320x240 resolution - providing one week of recording capacity with standard DVR configuration of 500GB hard disk.
- Special Software Driver: Provides support for new hyper-threading CPU technology, which in turn provides faster processing.
